Do you want to be a secured creditor?

Do you understand the Personal Property Securities Register or PPSR for short?

It is an electronic register that enables suppliers of almost anything, to register their ownership over what they have supplied, so that in the event that they are not paid, they can claim back what was supplied.

It is most valuable when a company goes into liquidation or receivership when it is used to prove ownership of goods not paid for, so as to get paid for those goods, by the receiver or liquidator of the failed company, provided there are funds available.

The claim is against the liquidator or receiver not the person who ordered or received the goods.

If there is no payment coming because the receiver or liquidator has no funds to pay out, you might ask the question - what value is there in signs supplied, if the company you supplied them to is in receivership or liquidation?

Well without a PPSR registration you are an unsecured creditor and the chances of getting paid are slim and the receiver or liquidator owns the signs, you can not take them back, even if you have not been paid.

Once you have written the invoice and sent it, unless you have registered your title over the goods, you no longer own them.

If you have a PPSR registration, then you still own the goods, you are a secured creditor, and you can take the signs back. .

That gives you negotiating strength to get paid if the receiver or liquidator wants to keep trading the business, or put the business up for sale, the receiver or liquidator would want to keep the signs and that is when we go it to negotiate on your behalf to get you paid - it is a big part of our job.
